Index Volume 22 (1978)

Subjects

Aims of psychotherapy, 11-20; 149-55.
Alcoholism in prison, 127-32.
Anxiety, management of, 11-20.
Attachment, curative effects of, 210-20.
Australia, criminal injuries compensation in, 179-92.

Behavior, how language, image and myth influence ——, 133-9.
Black gangs, 39-45.

Canada, rights of prisoners in, 164-78.
Coercive counseling and self-disclosure, 231-7.
Colorado State Hospital, 127-32.
Community attitudes and juvenile delinquency, 68-79; 91-6.
Compensation, basis for (Australia), 179-92.
Correctional counseling, 231-7.
Correctional officers, role conflicts of, 149-55.
Counseling
  the family, 29-38; offenders, 231-7; value of ——, 11-20.
Crimes of violence and loss of temper, 244-54.
Criminal injuries compensation (Australia), 179-92.
Criminal law
  criminal injuries compensation (Australia), 179-92; and the psychopath, 80-90; rights of prisoners (Canada), 164-78; Standard Minimum Rules for the Treatment of Prisoners (ONU), 156-63.
Criminogram, 224-5.

Dade County (Florida), 115-26.
Delinquent Gangs, 46-8.
Diagnostics v. intuitive understanding, 11-20.
Diminished responsibility, 80-90.
Drama as catharsis and catalyst, 91-6.
Drug abuse, reactive motivations for, 105-14.
Dynamic psychotherapy (Germany), 221-30.

Emotional development of a habitual offender, 221-30.
Empirism and realism in therapy, 49-55.
Enforced therapy with alcoholics in prison, 127-32.
Environment (change of) and socialisation, 68-79.

Family, role of the —— in the rehabilitation of the offender, 29-38.

Gangs
  black ——, 39-45; —— as an extended family, 39-45; delinquent ——, 46-8.
General system theory, 56-67.
Germany, criminal therapy in, 201-9; 221-30.
Goals of psychotherapy, 149-55; 201-30.
Graffiti, identity and the delinquent gangs, 46-8.

Intuitive understanding v. diagnostics, 11-20.
Israel, preventing delinquency in, 91-6.

Juvenile delinquency
  and community attitudes, 68-79; 91-6; prevention of (Israel), 91-6.
Juvenile offenders, care of —— in the Philippines, 239-43.

Language as structure, 133-9.
Loss of temper and crimes of violence, 244-54.

Marijuana, decriminalising, 115-26.
Murder-suicide, prevention of, 140-8.

Offenders, role of the family in the rehabilitation of, 29-38.
Offender therapy (see also: Psychotherapy)
  system specifics in ——, 56-67.
ONU (Standard Minimum Rules), 156-63.

Peer group relationship, 39-45.
Philippines, juvenile code in the, 239-43.
Prisoners' families, helping ——, 201-9.
Prisoners' rights
  (Canada), 64-78; (ONU), 156-63.
Prisons, alcoholism in, 127-32.
Probation officers
  co-operation with, 11-20; role conflicts of, 149-55.
Psychotherapy
  with alcoholics in prison, 127-32; correctional counseling, 231-7;

Index Volume 22 (1978)

Subjects

Aims of psychotherapy, 11-20; 149-55.
Alcoholism in prison, 127-32.
Anxiety, management of, 11-20.
Attachment, curative effects of, 210-20.
Australia, criminal injuries compensation in, 179-92.

Behavior, how language, image and myth influence ——, 133-9.
Black gangs, 39-45.

Canada, rights of prisoners in, 164-78.
Coercive counseling and self-disclosure, 231-7.
Colorado State Hospital, 127-32.
Community attitudes and juvenile delinquency, 68-79; 91-6.
Compensation, basis for (Australia), 179-92.
Correctional counseling, 231-7.
Correctional officers, role conflicts of, 149-55.
Counseling
  the family, 29-38; offenders, 231-7; value of ——, 11-20.
Crimes of violence and loss of temper, 244-54.
Criminal injuries compensation (Australia), 179-92.
Criminal law
  criminal injuries compensation (Australia), 179-92; and the psychopath, 80-90; rights of prisoners (Canada), 164-78; Standard Minimum Rules for the Treatment of Prisoners (ONU), 156-63.
Criminogram, 224-5.

Dade County (Florida), 115-26.
Delinquent Gangs, 46-8.
Diagnostics v. intuitive understanding, 11-20.
Diminished responsibility, 80-90.
Drama as catharsis and catalyst, 91-6.
Drug abuse, reactive motivations for, 105-14.
Dynamic psychotherapy (Germany), 221-30.

Emotional development of a habitual offender, 221-30.
Empirism and realism in therapy, 49-55.
Enforced therapy with alcoholics in prison, 127-32.
Environment (change of) and socialisation, 68-79.

Family, role of the —— in the rehabilitation of the offender, 29-38.

Gangs
  black ——, 39-45; —— as an extended family, 39-45; delinquent ——, 46-8.
General system theory, 56-67.
Germany, criminal therapy in, 201-9; 221-30.
Goals of psychotherapy, 149-55; 201-30.
Graffiti, identity and the delinquent gangs, 46-8.

Intuitive understanding v. diagnostics, 11-20.
Israel, preventing delinquency in, 91-6.

Juvenile delinquency
  and community attitudes, 68-79; 91-6; prevention of (Israel), 91-6.
Juvenile offenders, care of —— in the Philippines, 239-43.

Language as structure, 133-9.
Loss of temper and crimes of violence, 244-54.

Marijuana, decriminalising, 115-26.
Murder-suicide, prevention of, 140-8.

Offenders, role of the family in the rehabilitation of, 29-38.
Offender therapy (see also: Psychotherapy)
  system specifics in ——, 56-67.
ONU (Standard Minimum Rules), 156-63.

Peer group relationship, 39-45.
Philippines, juvenile code in the, 239-43.
Prisoners' families, helping ——, 201-9.
Prisoners' rights
  (Canada), 64-78; (ONU), 156-63.
Prisons, alcoholism in, 127-32.
Probation officers
  co-operation with, 11-20; role conflicts of, 149-55.
Psychotherapy
  with alcoholics in prison, 127-32; correctional counseling, 231-7;

criminal ——, 201-9; dynamic ——, 221-30; empirism and realism in ——, 49-55; enforced —— with alcoholics in prison, 127-32; goals of, 149-55; with a habitual offender, 221-30; with a juvenile psychopath, 21-8; of loss of temper, 244-54; relationship ——, 11-20; 149-55.
Psychopaths
and criminal law, 80-90; treatment of, 21-8.

Rehabilitation of a habitual offender, 221-30; role of the family in the —— of the offender, 29-38.
Relationship therapy, 11-20; 210-20.

Self-disclosure, 231-7.
Standard Minimum Rules (ONU), 156-63.
Suicide among murderers, 140-8.
System specifics in offender therapy, 56-67.

Therapeutic aims, 11-28; 49-55; 68-79; 91-6; 149-55; 210-37.

Victorian Criminal Injuries Compensation Act (Australia), 179-92.

Authors and Titles

Andrew, J. M.: Values in Counseling Probationers, 11-20.
Aldaba-Lim, E.: Care of the Juvenile Offenders in the Philippines, 239-43.
Arcaya, J. M.: Coercive Counseling and Self-disclosure, 231-7.

Brown, W. K.: Black Gangs as Family Extensions, 39-45.
Graffiti, Identity and the Delinquent Gang, 46-8.

Cholst, S.: Therapy of Loss of Temper and Crimes of Violence, 244-54.
Ciruli, L. F.: The Psychopath: The Law on the Boundary Line, 80-90.
Cobean, S. C. & Power, P. W.: The Role of the Family in the Rehabilitation of the Offender, 29-38.
Cromer, G.: Drama as Cartharsis and Catalyst: Two Ways of Preventing Delinquency, 91-6.

Danto, B. L.: Suicide Among Murderers, 140-8.

Engel, S. W.: The Successful Treatment of a Habitual Criminal, 221-30.
Engelhardt, von D.: Criminal Therapy Inside and Outside Prison, 201-9.

Fersch, E. A.; Goldfine, P. E. & Vrabel, J.: The Need for Sanctuary from the Community, 68-79.

Gray, W. & Gray, L. R.: System Specifics in Offender Therapy, 56-67.
Goldfine, P. E.——See: Fersch, E. A. et al, 68-79.

Haines, D.: Alcoholism in Prisons, 127-32.

Inciardi, J. A.——See: Weppner, R. S. & Inciardi, J. A., 115-26.

Jobson, K. B.: The Inmate as a Citizen, 164-78.

Kraiem, R.: Prisoners' Rights and the Standard Minimum Rules for the Treatment of Offenders, 156-63.

Pogrebin, M.: Role Conflict Among Correctional Officers in Treatment Oriented Correctional Institutions, 149-55.
Power, P. W.——See: Cobean, S. C. & Power, P. W., 29-38.

Rowe, D.: How Language, Image and Myth Influence Behavior, 133-9.

Sallmann, P.: Crime Compensation in Australia: The Victorian Experience, 179-92.
Schmideberg, M.: The Treatment of a Juvenile "Psychopath", 21-8.
Relationship Therapy: The Curative Effect of Attachment, 210-20.
Scott, E. W.: Young Drug Abusers and Non-Abusers: A Comparison, 105-14.
Suedfeld, P.: Beyond Sentimentality, 49-55.

Vrabel, J.——See: Fersch, E. A. et al, 68-79.

Weppner, R. S. & Inciardi, J. A.: Decriminalizing Marijuana, 115-26.